

WAGONS

NOW Is the Time To Buy WAGONS

It looks like they are high enough already, but they are BOUND to go HIGHER, and that very soon, unless war conditions suddenly change.

We are selling some of them at the same old price, but have been compelled to advance on some.

If you are going to need a wagon this season, it is our candid judgment that it will pay you to buy soon.

We can sell you a SCHUTTLE, a WEBER, or most any kind of a truck.

OVER THE STATE

If Mr. Hughes was running for the position of Town Scold his merits would be likely to appeal.—Norton Telegram.

When Luther Burbank invents a seedless watermelon, he will have a fair chance of being elected President.—Salina Union.

The Kansas thresher who was run over by his separator doubtless has a deep feeling of sympathy for victims of the steam roller.—Lawrence Journal.

The women vote in Kansas but the day of real triumph will be when a baby girl is as welcome in the average household as a baby boy.—Elizabethe N. Barr.

After hearing his wife describe the party, including the refreshments, Ab Adkins expressed doubt if there was even food for thought at such a gathering.—Atchison Globe.

A headline says: "Colby Man Kicked by Mule Dies in Denver." We knew a mule could kick a man a long way, but it seems to us that to be kicked from Colby to Denver is carrying a joke too far even by a mule.—Mankato Monitor.

Many of the local farmers do not have their names painted on their mail boxes, and the suggestion has been made to this paper that it would be a good deal of satisfaction to everyone else, and these same farmers, too, if all the mail boxes were marked with the names of the owners. As people drive about the country they like to know who lives on the various farms. If your farm is not so dilapidated that you are ashamed of it, why not put your name on the mail box, so travelers can see what progressive farmer lives there?—Fay N. Seaton in the Manhattan Mercury.

The other day a Kansas City business man had a visitor, a Mr. George Gotohed. A few minutes later T. C. Goodnight dropped in the office. The business man introduced the two men, "Gotohed-Goodnight," and was pretty nearly licked for being such a kiddie, before the men really found the names really belonged to each other.—Jno. S. Gilmore in the Fredonia Citizen.

If two inches in the Hall of Fame can be found which are not working, they should be filled with statues of the men who invented the Palm Beach suit and the first pair of canvas shoes. And if an idle limb can be found the inventor of the sport shirt should be rounded up and hung in effigy from it.—Emporia Gazette.

In this country the quality that has made the people great is that called by foreigners "goaheadness." The pace set by business in this country has been so fast that any man who wants to succeed must keep up with the procession or fall. There is an inclination among many young men nowadays to lag behind. This is due I fear, to the increased fondness for sports. Many of our young men think too much of baseball and football and do not go into the details of business.

I am a firm believer in athletics, and nobody likes a baseball game more than I, but there is a tendency in many places to neglect business for amusements.—G. L. Hueneken.

So many fellows who are arrested for an infraction of society's little laws, say for letting chickens run at large, or neglecting to get an automobile tag, and it makes them sore, you bet. They know they are in the wrong, but they try to make themselves believe they are being persecuted. We heard a man recently tell how he was going to get even with the officer that arrested him. He tried to make it out as a personal matter, when the officer was only obeying orders. The better way is to obey the letter of the law, and the next best way is to take your medicine cheerfully when you get pinched for neglecting a common duty. The sorehead never gets very far in his play for public sympathy.—Mulvane News.

Alfalfa transforms the upland farm from a sometime waste of gullied clay banks into an undulating meadow fecund with plantfood. It drills for water, working 365 days in the year without any recompense from man. The labor it performs in penetrating the subsoil is enormous. No other agricultural plant leaves the soil in such good physical condition as alfalfa. It prospers beneath the surface of the earth and brings her hidden treasures to the light of day. It takes the earth, air, moisture and sunshine and transmutes them into nourishing feed stuffs and into tints of green and purple, and into nectar and sweet perfumes, alluring the busy bees to visits of reciprocity, whereon they caress the alfalfa blossoms, which in their turn pour out secretions of nectar fit for Jupiter to sip. It forms a partnership with the micro-organisms of the earth by which it is enabled to enrich the soil upon which it feeds. It brings gold into the farmer's purse by processes more mysterious than the alchemy of old. The farmer with a fifty-acre meadow of alfalfa will have steady, enjoyable employment from June to October; for as soon as he has finished gathering the hay at one end of the field it will be again ready for the mower at the other.—A. P. Grout.

CONTEMPORARY COMMENT

By the way, who can remember when the Hooker fire department had its last fire drill? Everybody knows that there are bound to be more fires in Hooker, but nobody cares whether the fire fighting apparatus is easily gotten to or if anybody is familiar with the workings of the apparatus, or if the hose and carts are in shape. A motto should be tacked above the hose house door, "Ish-ka-bibble."—Hooker Advance.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Warkentin had a very narrow escape from being seriously injured Saturday evening when a team of ponies which they were driving became frightened and ran away, upsetting the buggy and throwing both the occupants out. Mrs. Warkentin sustained a broken arm and was badly bruised about the head. Mr. Warkentin was more fortunate and came out of the fracas with only a few scratches.—Meade Globe.

The drug store was robbed last night. The robbers entered the building by prying up a rear window. Besides rifling cash register, several watches and rings were taken from show cases. Evidently they worked in the dark after entering the store as some of the best pieces of jewelry were overlooked. This is the second robbery in Tyrone this week, the other being the Palm Cafe on Monday night. Their loss was about $7 while Wanser & Brown's loss was over $100.—Tyrone Observer.

The domestic science department of the Hugoton high school is a recipient of a very handsome present from Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Hayward; this is a 100-piece set of white china decorated with blue robins, and was delivered at the science room yesterday morning. * * * Dare we say it? This chautauqua is one public entertainment started, secured and financed by the men. No women folks have had to get signers, sell tickets, or hold a chicken dinner to promote the finances—yet. In which it differs from many other enterprises where a crowd must be brought together and money raised.—Hugoton Hermes.

A neighboring editor of the Republican faith, the quality of whose editorial products represents the minimum extreme while the quantity thereof easily walks off with the maximum championship, recently threw one fit after another over the appointment of Judge Lobdell of Great Bend to a place on the new Farm Loan board, the cause of the convulsion being the fact that the Judge is a Republican and his appointment was made by a Democratic administration. Young Mr. Chuzzlewit ramped gleefully over Congressman Shouse for permitting such a thing to happen and then wallowed in his mess of drivel like a drunken lunatic. His feeble mentality failed to grasp the situation at all. The place required a Republican, hence Mr. Shouse recommended a Republican to fill it, instead of a Democrat. And while he was about it he found a Republican who was capable of filling it, and one who would be an honor and a credit to the state. Naturally this latter fact made no appeal to the literary light from the cradle roll. He was so eager for something in the way of campaign thunder he had no time to consider facts. But perhaps we should not be too severe. Endowed by nature with a vacuum instead of a brain, then set to a task of making campaign dope out of nothing, after having said vacuum cooked to a brown turn by a forty-days' drouth, is some handicap.—Stafford Courier.

Frank Gates and Earl Raymond, a Ford and a hay rake, made a rather undesirable combination, when the rake and the Ford came in contact Monday night about eleven o'clock, somewhere in the neighborhood of the Artesian school house. The boys were in Mr. Gates' Ford and were driving west. At some point along the road they met a man driving a team hitched to a big wagon. From the report we get, he failed to give half the road. Frank Gates, who was driving the car, turned to the right sufficient distance to pass the wagon, but the dust raised by the horses and the wagon made it impossible for him to see that a rake was hitched on behind it and that it extended out several feet. The result is easily guessed. The car was overturned and the occupants thrown out, but fortunately not hurt. The Ford and the rake both were quite badly wrecked.—Meade News.

The cold drink joint of Fred Raugh at Hooker, was visited by officers and five barrels of "Silver Top" and "Golden Cream" were taken. Both drinks come under the prohibitive law, the former running over one-half of one per cent and the latter two and fifty-four one hundredths per cent. Fred came down Monday and plead guilty before Judge Howsley and given thirty days and a fine of $50. * * * Several thousand bushels of grain is on the ground near the Jordan elevator. Everything they have is full and the shortage of cars is the universal complaint. The large pile laying there was tempting to some one who thought they could get away with a few sacks of it, and it was suspicioned some of it was going, and therefore J. W. laid in wait one night and took a few shots in the late hours that aroused the sleepers of that side. The party was making away with a sack on his shoulder when the excitement took place and unloaded forthwith, knowing he could make better time.—Guymon Democrat.

The Tri-State Poultry and Pet Stock Association will be a big affair this winter, if the plans are carried out successfully. The promoters are beginning to get ready for this show early, and hope to get a large number of entries. The Tri-State Poultry Show is by far the biggest affair of its kind in this part of the state, and is recognized as such by the larger associations in the east. This year it is the intention of the association to open the doors free to everybody. They are also planning to have a big Farmers' Institute in connection with the poultry show this year. The Agricultural College at Manhattan has already told us that they would be glad to arrange their dates to suit this occasion. W. A. Lamb of the Kansas Agricultural College at Manhattan will be the judge at the poultry show. It will take about $100 to finance the show this year and the Bucklin business men should all rally to the support by donating several dollars to this cause.—Bucklin Banner.

"When our little boy, now seven years old, was a baby he was cured of cholera morbus by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy," writes Mrs. Sidney Simmons, Fair Haven, N. Y. "Since then other members of my family have used this valuable medicine for colic and bowel trouble with good satisfaction and I gladly endorse it as a remedy of exceptional merit." Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo, Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free.
